

Image title: The new alfaview[®] toolbox allows even more productive collaboration.

Karlsruhe, 08 November 2020

New alfaview[®] feature: the toolbox

As of now, alfaview[®] has a new feature: the toolbox allows to integrate additional programmes for collaborative work into the video conference. Any tool available on the market can be integrated into the toolbox via a web link. This way, productivity helpers such as survey or voting tools, an interactive whiteboard, file managers or project management tools can be used or the link to the company's intranet can be shared.

Depending on the occasion and need, an individual toolbox can thus be configured adapted to the specific requirements of the users.

With its new feature, alfaview[®] enables even more productive and comfortable collaborative work in the virtual office and classroom or during an online conference.

In our test rooms you can try out all [alfaview[®] features](#) without registration or user account. For further information, please contact the alfaview[®] team by phone under +49 721 35450-450 or via mail under info@alfaview.com.